

BFFF ENERGY PURCHASING SCHEME

In January, BFFF launched its latest addition to its services for members- the new BFFF energy purchasing scheme.

With energy costs a significant factor for our industry, the new member benefit builds on the collective strength of the Federation to offer a risk managed energy purchasing scheme through one of the UK's longest established energy and utility consultancy practices, Inenco Group Ltd.

Inenco Group Ltd were selected by BFFF following detailed research of the companies who can offer such schemes. They bring to the Federation a wealth of skills and experience in operating wholesale purchasing agreements.

Since the launch of the scheme, there has been substantial interest from all sectors of the membership with over 37 companies requesting additional information. These companies represent over 126 business sites within the UK and the energy spend for these members alone, equates to some £6 million. BFFF is delighted that the membership feel that this will be of benefit to their businesses for the future and look forward to future developments.

Further information on the scheme is available from Joanna Hancock on telephone 01476 515300 or e mail joannahancock@bfff.co.uk
